Teamster's Group to Protest Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for a rank- and file Teamsters union group said they intend to apply for a federal court order later today barring James R. Hoffa from taking office as Teamsters president.

The law firm of Dodd, Kaplan and Schmidt said it will seek the order this afternoon from Federal District Court Judge F. Dickinson Wetts.

The firm represents a 13-man Teamsters member group from New York City which has a suit pending challenging validity of the recent Teamsters' union convention at Miami Beach, Fla., on grounds delegates were illegally handicapped to rig the union elections for Hoffa.

Hoffa and a slate of candidates were overwhelmingly elected as officers at the convention. Hoffa is due to take over the union presidency from Dave Beck, who has said he will resign any time Hoffa wants to assume the helm of the scandal-ridden union.

Hoffa and Beck both have figured prominently in the scandals developed by the Senate Rackoff Investigating Committee. Because of the disclosures the AFL-CIO is expected to suspend the Teamsters from AFL-CIO membership on Oct. 24.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the investigating committee, said earlier that Beck enabled Hoffa to win the Miami election by dictating disregard of the union's constitution.

The senator said records of the convention's Credentials Committee "reveal vote situations which are just plain scandalous."

The committee subpoenaed the records immediately after Hoffa's election. It is "inquiring into charges that delegates had been hand-picked to rig the election for Hoffa, as alleged in a court action which sought unsuccessfully to block the election."

Hoffa has been accused by McClellan and other Senate investigators of misuse of union funds and underworld connections.

In Detroit, Hoffa disputed McClellan's contention that the union constitution had been disregarded. He said President Beck and the union's Executive Board were charged with interpretation of the constitution. Hoffa said, and it was then approved by the Executive Board and later by the full convention.

"How far do we have to go?" he asked.

Earlier, he had told a welcoming crowd at the Detroit airport that "we will be faced next year with the roughest, and toughest labor legislation in history."

He added, in obvious reference to his own election as union president, "If they can pass restrictive legislation solely because they do not like the man who has been elected, then they will be passing legislation on a vindictive and personality basis."

After the committee subpoenaed the convention records, union officials reported the documents had been thrown out by a hotel maid who subsequently died.

Many were salvaged, however, and Joseph K. Rove, secretary of the union, said he had a copy of them. — Continued on Page Two

Commies Surrender in San Marino

SAN MARINO (AP) — San Marino's Communist government surrendered its power to a rival anti-Communist regime today, ending 12 years of rule over this tiny republic.

The Communist leadership announced capitulation in a proclamation read in San Marino's village square.

The proclamation said the Communist government had "decided to give up its useless resistance as a sacrifice to the welfare of the state."

The proclamation did not say precisely when the Reds would hand over power to the new government. But Communist leaders and their supporters were already seen leaving the government palace they have held since the tea-party revolution erupted Oct. 1.

Bennett Files Another Suit Against NAACP

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett has filed the third in a series of lawsuits against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Arkansas.

The new suit filed yesterday in Pulaski Circuit Court, alleged the NAACP has failed to file articles of incorporation with the secretary of state during the period it has done business in Arkansas.

He charged the NAACP, which has existed in Arkansas since 1950, filed the articles only last April 29.

Bennett's suit asked $5,000 as a penalty for the alleged failure to file.

Another similar suit, filed by Bennett several weeks ago in Pulaski Circuit Court, names the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., as defendant. It contained practically the same allegations.

At the same time, Bennett filed a suit against the NAACP in Pulaski Chancery Court for $370, the amount Bennett said the NAACP owed in corporation franchise taxes.

He said the group owed the amount for the seven years it had done business in Arkansas.

Yesterday, Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Rood denied a defense motion objecting to another suit Bennett filed against the NAACP. The denial came on the ground that it did not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action. The judge then granted Bennett's motion to order the NAACP to reveal names of members and financial data of its state organization.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the NAACP, had previously declined to provide such information. Frank D. Reeves, Washington, D.C., attorney for the NAACP, charged that Bennett's series of suits were designed "for the purpose of harassing, handicapping and intimidating the NAACP."

Only 8 Negroes Escorted Into Central Today

By ED MARTIN
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eight Negro students were escorted into Central High School today for the third week of integrated education.

One of the six Negro girls who with three boys have been attending Central High under federal troop protection since Sept. 25 did not appear for classes today. There was no immediate explanation of her absence.

The relatively few students on the campus paid little heed to the Negroes as they entered. However, a mob of teen-age white girls followed them.

DAR Hears All About Pine Tree Industry

Max Bolan, area forester of the Soil Conservation Service in Hope, told 21 members of the John Cain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, "If you're going to plant trees, don't think the more you plant, the better off you'll be."

Mr. Bolan spoke to the group, October 9 in the Barlow Hotel banquet room. He pointed out that 80% of the pine marketed is grown by farmers or private individuals and 20% by lumber companies. Pine is an excellent crop to plant and leave alone, but must be spaced in planting or thinned as any other crop. He reminded that the pulpwood industry is a necessary outlet for thinning.

One effective method of thinning given by Mr. Bolan was the use of a harmonie, 2-4-5-T, that will eventually be used in the Hope area as an aerial spray. This harmonie will kill broadleaf trees but not harm the pine and is therefore an excellent means to thin woods.

He said another popular method is girdling a process using a gasoline powered portable saw to cut a ring around the tree trunk. This kills the tree in one month to two years. Girdling was started on a small scale in Hope, but has grown rapidly into a contract business in Arkansas.

Mr. Bolan travels through 32 counties training people for the Soil Conservation Service and used enlarged pictures of several successful pine farms to illustrate his talk.

Mrs. Harold York of Little Rock, State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was introduced by Mrs. John Kock as a special guest.

Data Released on Army's Alert on Integration

WASHINGTON (INS) — Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker today released the text of a since-rescinded "alert" order that would have created military task forces for possible use in enforcing integration throughout the South.

The order, issued on behalf of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, directed the organization of task forces of 1,000 to 1,200 men for "both air and motor movement." In event troops are required in situations similar to that now current in Little Rock, Ark.

The directive went from the Pentagon to Army commands in the field on Sept. 26, the day after airborne paratroopers entered Little Rock to enforce racial integration at Central High School. Brucker rescinded the order the following day, within an hour after newsmen learned of its existence.

The Army secretary, who previously refused to divulge the order's precise contents, reluctantly released the text in response to a demand from Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

In a letter to Russell, Brucker said "no alert directive as that term is understood in military terminology has ever been issued," but that the following order went out:

"As a precautionary measure in the event troops are required in situations similar to that now current in Little Rock, Ark., the chief of staff, U. S. Army, desires that you organize task forces of 1,000-1,200 strength in the 82nd Airborne, Third Infantry, first infantry and first armored divisions."

"In addition you should determine the availability of military police units for this type of duty."

"Above units (located at Fort Bragg, N. C., Fort Benning, Ga., Fort Polk, La. and Fort Riley, Kan.) are to be alerted."

All Around Town

For the first time in many years there will be no October term of Hempstead Circuit Court. The reason, no cases. An abortion trial was scheduled but was delayed due to illness of a witness.

Recently Bruner-Ivory Hardware Company sent a 199 pound watermelon to J. C. Wigal of the Warwood Tool Co., Wheeling, West Virginia and it caused quite a sensation according to a letter received from Mr. Wigal by Guy E. Basye. The letter was accompanied by a newspaper clipping of the melon which was used on the News-Register's front page.

Mr. Wigal writes, "This melon predated quite a sensation as no one around here had ever seen or even knew they grew as large as this one. It was truly the finest flavored melon I have ever tasted."

U. S., Russia Swap Warnings About Mid-East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia confronted each other menacingly over the Middle East today, with each power warning the other against plunging the area into war.

Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev touched off the situation with comments regarded by the U. S. government as directly threatening Turkey. His statement, made in a New York Times interview, was published yesterday.

The United States struck back last night with a State Department declaration that this country intends to stand by its obligations to Turkey under the North Atlantic Treaty and is also "determined to carry out" its expressed policy of defending the Middle East against international communism.

Clearly warning that a clash in the Middle East might spread to engulf much of the world the U. S. statement asserted:

"Mr. Khrushchev is himself reported to have observed that it is dangerous in these times to assume that hostilities, once begun, will remain confined to a particular locality. That truth should be prayerfully and constantly contemplated by every responsible official of every country."

The American statement is understood to have been cleared with President Eisenhower and to have been checked with some at least of the other members of the 12-nation North Atlantic Alliance.

U. S. Missile Chief Called in by Ike

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower summoned Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and the nation's missile chief today prior to a cabinet meeting expected to be dominated by Russia's missile and satellite achievements.

The developments came on the heels of Russia's promise to send a second satellite spinning around the globe next month before the United States has one in space.

McElroy and Assistant Defense Secretary William M. Holaday in charge of missile research and development met with Eisenhower just before a morning cabinet meeting.

It was the second day of high level administration talks behind closed doors, continuing a reappraisal of the nation's missile and satellite programs which was touched off by the launching of the first Sputnik a week ago today possibly with an intercontinental ballistic missile.

After a meeting of Eisenhower and the National Security Council Thursday, defense officials indicated there would be an all-out effort to perfect an intermediate range ballistic missile.

At the same time Eisenhower and McElroy are under a steady drumfire of congressional criticism to speed up America's missile effort.

Oglesby Has Prevention of Fire Week

Pupils of Oglesby School began the observance of Fire Prevention Week last week when all grades competed for prizes in the poster contest which is sponsored each year by the local Fire Department.

All the young artists were given recognition by having their posters displayed in the class rooms and the halls of the school. Mrs. Shelders' 4th Grade made a special study of Safety as well as Fire Prevention, in connection with their Health lessons.

Special emphasis has been given to Fire Drills for the two weeks period. Mrs. Messer, Principal, assisted by Junior Fire Marshals Buddy Sprague and Wayne Moses and assistant, Jacky Lloyd, directed the drill practice, evacuating the building by way of a different exit each time. Mrs. Messer explained to the children that in case of fire there is always a possibility of one entrance being blocked, so for maximum safety they should be prepared to use any available exit.

The entire school met in the auditorium Friday morning for a special program and the Sixth Grade "A" Reading Group presented a playlet "Fall Cleanup."

Bill Lund was the announcer and the cast of characters was as follows: Ted, Buddy Sprague, Jacky Lloyd, Billy Jimmy Walker, Mary Gwen Farmer, Betty Evans, Evans, Jane, Shirley, Ann Moody, Al, Al Weisenberger, Susie, Joy Highfill, Sherry, Sherry Burke, The Mayor, Mr. George Frazier, Fire Chief, Mr. Pap Willis, Mrs. Brown, Phala Brown, the gang, Ray Williams, Betty Sue McKenzle, Dorothy Wilson Ann Arnold, Harold Rogers.

The students are: Sharon Kay Greene, Howard Byers, and Peggy Joyce Duke.

Diplomats Are Hopeful Russia Will Accept

UNITED NATIONS (UP) — The U. S. and 20 other countries today called for General Assembly endorsement of a disarmament plan based on Western proposals including a joint study of outer space objects.

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Western diplomats at the U. N. today had hopes the Russian soon would accept an American offer to discuss international control of outer space missiles within the framework of the world organization.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko ignored U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's bid yesterday to begin such talks, made at the beginning of the disarmament debate in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee.

Observers pointed out, however, that the Russians are traditionally slow to respond to overtures on major issues, even when their own foreign minister is on the scene. It is standard procedure for Soviet diplomats to contact the Kremlin on any big questions and await specific orders.

The Western disarmament resolutions were still held up while the 20 or more sponsors tried to agree on wording of the passage proposing control of space missiles.

One informed source said there had been a move to make control of such weapons the subject of a separate resolution. Military leaders in various Western capitals reportedly balked because "outer space has never been clearly defined and any separate ban might put a halt on all ground-to-air rockets."

In offering to begin talks on space missiles and satellites, Lodge said the Political Committee "we must not miss this chance" to harness for peace the "pitiless travelers" which can blow us to bits.

Gromyko, speaking after Lodge, omitted any reference to the American offer. Instead he blasted the whole U. S. disarmament position.

"The U. S. government obviously has no intention of facilitating agreement on disarmament," he charged. "It apparently intends to continue to prevent any such agreement."

Brushing aside the Western proposal made in the recent London talks of the Disarmament subcommittee, the Soviet minister stood firm on his government's demand that immediate and unconditional abolition of tests of nuclear weapons be the first step toward disarmament.

Gromyko asserted aerial inspection "a major point in the U. S. plan" cannot prevent surprise attack or provide control over disarmament.

"With military blocs in existence and in the present atmosphere of suspicion and distrust in relations between states," he declared, "flights of foreign aircraft over territories of a country can merely increase that feeling of suspicion and distrust."

Stock Market

12:15 they were behind four minutes after which the market caught up gradually.

At noon the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 437.36 off 1.35 points and a new low since June 9, 1953; railroad, 115.11 off 1.07 and a new low since Sept. 9, 1954; utility, 65.14 off 0.13 and a new low since Oct. 1, 1956; and the 65 stocks in the three averages, 149.66 off 1.42 and a new low since March 15, 1955.

Sales to noon totaled 1,630,000 shares, against 1,110,000 in the previous session and a new high since Feb. 28. The first hour today brought out 90,000 shares, the most since 1,000,000 shares were traded Nov. 7, 1954.

The deluge of offerings met today's response from buyers at concessions in price ranging from 1 to 3 points. Many issues met support from time to time and a few managed to score small gains.

For a time Gulf Oil managed to rise more than a point, it fell back. Socony Mobile lost more than 2 points. Jersey Standard broke to a new low on a loss of about 2 points. Chrysler slipped off after holding steady for a time. New York Shipbuilding, Schering, Joy Manufacturing, American Home Products, Eastern Air Lines, and Zenith were among the wider losers. Steels yielded ground grudgingly.

Two Sentenced in Defraud Attempt

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Two Crittenden County men yesterday were sentenced to 30 months in Federal prison each for conspiracy to defraud the government on State Highway Department road contracts.

Judge Roy W. Harper of St. Louis sentenced Martin Esserberry, 51, a former Highway Department resident engineer at West Memphis, and Nelson Crowder, 42, of Marion, a gravel hauler and contractor. Both had pleaded guilty on a three-count indictment returned last month.

The indictment said the men made false reports on the quantities of gravel furnished in construction of U.S. Highway 61 in Crittenden County.

Judge Harper who sentenced both men to three 30-month sentences on each of the three counts, allowed the terms to run concurrently. He said both men's sentences would begin Jan. 14, 1958.

the convention. Credentials Committee delivered to the Senate group what he called "substantive" support of the records.

McClellan said in a statement that the records turned over to the committee "are so incomplete as to be almost useless." He also said that preliminary examination of the records that were furnished "revealed a shocking situation."

"Without this editorial action on the part of Mr. Beck, Mr. Hoffa, the candidate of his choosing, could not have been elected president of the Teamsters."

McClellan said the committee would continue its investigation of the Teamster elections, but he added that "this is also a matter for the courts."

Ike Shows Little Alarm Over Moon

By ED CREACH

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's attitude toward the Soviet satellite could be summed up in two words: So what?

Many people—scientists, military men and the rest of us—have reacted somewhat differently. Some are alarmed, others are embarrassed that the Russians get their first most are fascinated at the very least.

But not the President.

He has asked himself: What did the Russians really accomplish?

And he gave his answer at a news conference yesterday: "Apparently, from what they say, they have put one small ball in the air."

Eisenhower showed less concern about this than he has been seen to show over the progress of one small ball from the halfway to the green.

No secret is intended. The President was plainly aware of the worldwide uproar over the miniature moon. He came prepared with a long statement on the subject—something he rarely does.

But the essence of his words was: "What's everybody so excited about? We could have done it ourselves if we had wanted to. And what does it really amount to, after all?"

Others may say—and are saying—that the Russians have scored an historic triumph. There is all manner of speculation about what happens next. Do the Russians zoom ahead in missile development? Do they beat us to the moon? One British rocket expert, Arthur C. Clarke, goes so far as to say the United States has become a "second-class power" when the Russians shot their ball into space.

But Eisenhower has a word for this sort of talk: hysteria.

He said he reached all along that the Russians would get a great psychological advantage in world politics if they were first with the satellite. But he said this country was concerned with one

Stewart and Murphy Teamed in First Technirama Picture

A magnificent six-star action picture filmed in the most thrilling color process ever brought to the screen opens at the Saenger theater Sunday with the presentation of Universal International's "Night Passage," which has James Stewart and Audrey Murphy heading its six-star cast.

The film is truly the most exciting package offered outdoor fans in a decade, since it combines the talents of two topflight action heroes with a unique story screened in Technirama, the new wide screen process, never before used in a movie, which has more clarity and warmth of color than any process to date.

Colorado is the background of this payroll robbery thriller with Stewart and Murphy in the most two-fisted portrayals of their fabulous picture careers. Murphy becomes a villain in this one for the first time and Stewart is a hero, but both play in a relationship which remains a secret until the audience finds it out toward the middle of the story.

Never has U-I assembled such a perfect big name cast for an outdoor film as for this exceptionally suspenseful robber-killer yarn written by Borden Chase. Chief of the gang to which Murphy belongs is Dan Duray, whose smile has more venom than a snake's fangs. An outstanding performance is given by young Brandon DeWilde, the boy who was so good in "Shane." In this film he's an unwilling member of the robber gang.

On the distaff side, Dianne Foster, as Charlie, the waitress, who loves Murphy in vain only to find that Stewart is her man, turns in a finely shaded characterization. Elaine Stewart, as the wife of railroad mogul Jay C. Flippen, has a come-hither look for both Stewart and Murphy which establishes her as one of the screen's most alluring glamour girls.

Producer Aaron Rosenberg went all out on this production to give it unlimited wealth of background by sending the company to the Rocky Mountain area near Durango, Colorado, for all exteriors. Cameraman William Daniels, a master of wide-screen color, took full advantage of the magnificent panoramas. Tremendous credit goes to Director James Neilson, a discoverer of Stewart's who made his motion picture debut with "Night Passage" after many years of directing Broadway stage and television productions.

U. S., Russia

Much appeared to depend on the outcome of events in the Middle East itself, particularly developments along this tense border between Turkey and Syria.

If some kind of border incident involving Turkey and Syria should get out of hand, the situation could rapidly become worse.

Much also obviously depends on Russia's real intentions with respect to the Turkish-Syrian tension. One major consideration, perhaps the dominant one, in the top-level decision to issue last night's Washington declaration was that United States intentions should be made clear to the Soviet government in order to minimize the danger of a miscalculation there.

In the interview, Khrushchev accused Secretary of State Dulles of trying to push Turkey to attack Syria, which came under the control of pro-Soviet army officers earlier this year.

Khrushchev was quoted as saying that "if war breaks out, we are near Turkey and you are not. When the guns begin to fire, the rockets can begin flying and then it will be too late to think about it. Turkey would not last one day in case of war."

hooled "niggers" as they drove by the front of the school. Reporters recognized the girl driver as one of the active anti-integrationists in the student body.

Armed soldiers around the massive building bore silent witness that the legal situation was unsolved as the first third of the current school semester ended.

History-making decisions and developments swirled around Central High during the six school weeks that ended today.

The integration of three Negro boys and six girls at the 2,000, pupils school swelled into an issue that resulted in a showdown clash between federal and state authority.

And that would reverberate conflict in a deadlock. Neither President Eisenhower, who sent federal troops to enforce integration at the school, nor Gov. Orval Faubus, who had called out the Arkansas National Guard to prevent integration, was showing any sign of retreat from diametrically opposed stands.

Faubus has declared that only the withdrawal of the nine Negro students will settle the dispute. Tomorrow, at least 60 churches in the Little Rock area will hold a special one-hour service to pray for a solution to the crisis.

A number of other Arkansas churches and some outside the state will take part in the Columbus Day service, which begins at 11 a. m.

Little Rock clergymen of several different faiths worked together in setting up the special service. Among them were: Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown, Episcopal bishop of Arkansas; the Rt. Rev. Paul E. Martin, Methodist bishop of Arkansas; and Louis L. Rabbitt, pastor of Temple B'nai Israel; and Msgr. James E. O'Connell of the Roman Catholic Church. Rabbi Sanders said yesterday

Brucker told Russell that "it appeared prudent in the military judgment of the chief of staff to send a precautionary reminder to assure the status of readiness and training."

The secretary said it should be remembered that in the Little Rock situation "the local police of the city of Little Rock were unable to control mob action and the state failed or refused to use its police powers for this purpose."

Brucker indicated that he did not disapprove of the "alert" order from a military standpoint.

that Jews Reformed synagogues throughout the nation will join in the service. Bishop Brown pointed out that the National Council of Churches has asked its member churches to participate.

Tonight, 24 Baptist ministers will sponsor a 15-minute prayer meeting at a Little Rock Baptist church. They have announced that their prayers will be based on a conviction that the Negro students at Central High School should be transferred to a Negro school.

Bishop Brown said the Columbus Day service will be "nonpolitical" in nature. He said he and the other ministers who arranged the service had "no protest" about the Baptist prayer meeting.

He said "although the training directives was not such a document as press speculation suggested, I recognized that it might be subject to misinterpretation, and, therefore, I directed its cancellation."

He added: "I did so without derogation to the military soundness of the directives."

"My Business is Groceries..."

"It is my business to give the people of this community the very best in food values, prompt service, courteous treatment. The kind of merchandise that goes on my shelves has a lot to do with my success, so I buy good products that are made and packaged in accordance with the well known standards of quality, weight and measure. Buying and selling on the basis of these standards protects my customers and my business."

"I know from experience that good newspaper advertising is the best way to tell people the news of my store. In my opinion, newspaper advertising is not only the most effective way for me to advertise, it is also the safest way. When I spend money in newspaper advertising I make my investment on the basis of verified circulation figures and values that are as well known and important in advertising as the standards of weight and quality that I use in my own business."

The information the grocer refers to is found in reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Mother's Wrong to Cover Up Teens' Sneak Dating

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 15 and like a boy the same age. He's a nice boy, but my father doesn't like him. Whenever he comes to the house, Dad insults him, saying he's no good, has no ambition, never will make anything of himself, etc.

The funny part is, we're good friends with his family and my father is a fishing pal of his father. My mother likes Jack and advises me to see him only when Dad's not around and to go to his house at night. Instead of having him come here. She says when I date Jack I should say I'm going out with one of my girl friends, and she'll cover up for me. How can I change Dad's attitude?

MICHAEL D.

Dear Michael: Changing Dad's attitude is important, but changing Mom's position is vital. She's handing out the stuff of which delinquency is made. No matter how unreasonable your father's edicts are, the cure for them is not lies and deceit. Mom is far deeper in the wrong than your father.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Mason and I met nearly a year ago. We've experienced many things together — some of which I wish had never happened. Once we thought I was pregnant but to our joy I wasn't. Then last week he said he didn't love me any more, and broke off. Can someone fall out of love that fast?

KAY

Dear Kay: Yes, especially under these circumstances. Don't hope to get Mason back; he's gone forever. This is the sort of thing that happens to girls who are too willing.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My parents live on a remote farm, and in order to get a job I had to leave home. I have a fair job. My mother insists that I send her half my pay every week to make up for the trouble I was as a child. I'm more than willing to send a small amount, but I really can't spare half of my salary.

P. S.

Dear P. S.: If your mother tries to set a price on intangibles, what is she paying you for the job you gave her as a child? She's entirely unfair to demand half your wages, send her a list of your expenses and ask her what she thinks can be spared after they are paid. Apparently farm living has kept her from many of the realities of life.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My two best friends are sisters. We have lots of fun together and are very congenial. The only thing I have against them is that they make me do all the calling up. I've told them I wouldn't call first; they'd have to, but after waiting for them two or three weeks, I give in and telephone. Can you tell me why they don't call?

L. M.

Dear L. M.: Some people just have an aversion to the telephone, like others have to pen and ink. Is their friendship valuable to you? Do you really mind calling up? Is it worth making an issue out of the whole thing? Consider, and compromise if necessary.

Here Is One Report for L. R. Events

By REL MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — On the morning of Sept. 23, a Monday, 99 per cent of the people of Little Rock were nowhere near Central High School.

You don't often begin a report by noting something that didn't happen.

It's important in this case however, because Sept. 23 was "Black Monday" in Little Rock, the day of the riots at the high school.

That was the day when a relatively few people about 400 in all, beat up Negroes and newspapermen, fought with police, raged in the children inside the high school, "Come out! Don't stay in there with the niggers!"

In the space of an hour these few—

1. Brought shame and disgrace to a community of good people.

2. Fashioned a deadly propaganda weapon for the Communists to use against the United States in Asia and Africa, among the black, yellow and brown races this country wants as friends.

3. Rescued Gov. Orval Faubus, who had predicted violence, from what had appeared to be the role of a false prophet.

4. Figuratively lured and feathered those people, on both sides of the Mason-Dixon Line, who are patiently searching for the answers to the immense problems that sprang from the Supreme Court ruling that segregated schools are unconstitutional.

Only a handful are responsible for this and more.

The rest of Little Rock was in its homes and offices and places of business as on any other day.

This is not to say that they approve integration. They don't. They overwhelmingly oppose integration and want no part of it.

But they also believe in obeying the law, and there is the dilemma. It is not easy to obey a command that rovels your deepest sensibilities nor readily comply with an order that you feel, in flood and fibre, is wrong.

Today, many people in Little Rock are sick and tired of "the mess" as they call it. They are prepared to accept integration simply as the lesser of two evils.

Others shrug and say: "You can't fight the U.S. government. Why try?"

Still others businessmen who are thinking of the future development of Arkansas are anxious to regain the nation's respect.

Much of this sentiment came as a reaction to "Black Monday," and the two days that followed—three days that shook America.

Who are the people who gathered in front of the Central High School that morning?

There are some hard-nosed hatters looking on Negroes and "Yankee reporters" to slug-provided the odds were right.

Some were merely curious, waiting to see what would happen. And some were crusading for kicks.

Finally, there were the women. They were the most frantic of all, the noisiest, the most vulgar. Apparently average housewives suddenly turned into harpies screaming, crying, tearing their hair out, having a fine old emotional binge that morning a real spree. They were the first to pass the wooden barricades and rush up to the policemen.

The police kept control inside the barricades. But they did next to nothing about the beatings that took place outside. First the crowd attacked four Negro news-papemen. Later, they turned on white reporters and photographers. During all this, there were policemen close at hand.

Was the rioting organized? Did ringleaders come to the school with a plan?

That's what the FBI is tracking down now. They won't say whether they have any suspects or what charges may be brought.

The night of Sept. 23 in Little

No Reason Tourists Can't Visit State

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Automobile Association said there was no reason tourists should not visit Arkansas now.

The statement was part of a bulletin sent to member clubs throughout the nation yesterday.

Rock was a nightmare.

Soon after dark, reports began coming in of fights between whites and Negroes. One white man was hit on the head with a brick and suffered concussion. Police fired on a speeding car full of Negroes, pursued it until it crashed; two of the men it were injured. There were reports of kang fights.

On Tuesday Sept. 24, the electrifying news came that President Eisenhower had put the National Guardsmen under federal orders, and that units of the 101st Airborne were on the way to this city.

Shortly after dark a convoy of Army trucks rumbled over the main street bridge from the opposite side of the Arkansas River. People stared in utter disbelief.

Nothing like this had been seen in a Southern city since the days of the Reconstruction, 90 years ago.

There was every form of reaction in Little Rock—in surprise, disbelief, relief, blood-hot indignation, I went around the city that night first to the school, then to other areas talking with people.

The next day, Wednesday, Sept. 25, the paratroopers' officers quickly and efficiently demonstrated to the smaller crowds again gathered at the high school that they meant business.

The soldiers broke up two groups. One man suffered a scalp wound when he tried to grab a paratrooper's rifle. Another was jabbed in the arm with a bayonet. After that, there was no serious trouble.

Then the campaign began to induce as many parents as possible, by threats or persuasion, to keep their children out of school. It appears to have failed.

The hard-core segregationists from classes came back last week, who first remained away from classes came back last week. Then, soon after classes began, they tried to start a mass walkout. The snowball didn't roll.

Sixty-nine students were suspended last weekend. Some had attacked two Negro boys. Supt. of Schools Virgil Blossom is prepared to crack down hard, he says.

But what of the future? The troops won't stay in Little Rock forever. What then?

AIDC to Take Part in Jonesboro Event

JONESBORO, Ark. — The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission will participate tomorrow in a series of events highlighting the industrial development of Jonesboro.

The AIDC, headed by Winthrop Rockefeller, will meet here in the morning and then hold an afternoon "open" meeting. Sandwiched between the AIDC sessions will be a general membership meeting of the Jonesboro Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber will be addressed by William Ewald of the AIDC and Robert Britcher, president of the Great American Industries Inc., the parent firm of Colson Corp., which recently opened an industrial ester plant in Jonesboro.

Late tomorrow the visitors will tour the General Electric, Arkansas Glass Container, Frolic Footwear and Colson plants here.

—to confess her sins. That is a dirty word, sin. Men don't relish being labeled a sinner and women hide under the cover of night to avoid being branded as one. Sin is like a rattlesnake — it buries its fangs in your flesh and pumps venom through every vein. You become groggy, weary, sick and helpless. But only for the grace of a loving God you would pass through the door on the bottom side and head straight for an eternity in Hell. But God lives and you may still have hope. Here is the woman at the well. She is corrupt, full of sin, but she is repentant. Isn't it just like Jesus to be wherever a man needs Him whenever he is ready to turn to God. He is chief authority at your church and He is waiting to forgive you as He forgave the woman at the well. He offers you everything worth while in this life and in the life to come. He will meet you at the door of your church next Sunday and go home with you after service and spend the entire week with you if you will invite Him.

Few Persons Want Bison For Free

LAWTON, Okla. — The great American bison went begging here today — apparently very few people want him, even for free. Last month 225 buffaloes from the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge herd near here were placed on sale with zoos and parks getting first picks for nothing but transportation costs. Individuals were also offered buffalo at a price on the hoof or chopped and in the carton. Since that time, only six buffaloes have been reserved for zoos. Eighty-nine have been sold to individuals or organizations, leaving 136 more to be disposed. Julian Howard, refuge manager, who last year saw 200 of the buffaloes snapped up in no time at all, says he can't understand why his "merchandise" is moving so slow this year. The buffaloes are being sold from the refuge herd to keep it down to 1,000 — believed to be the largest in the world. Last year 50 buffaloes were sent to zoos and parks. Most of those sold to individuals went to ranchers, although Howard said meat orders have come from all sections of the United States.
